CHANGING ROLE OF PUBLIC SECTOR

Public sector in India was created to achieve two types of objective – (1) to speed up the economic growth of the country and (2) to achieve a more equitable distribution of income and wealth among people. The role and importance of public sector changed with time. Its role over a period of time can be summarized as following:

- 1. Development of Infrastructure: At the time of independence, India suffered from acute shortage of heavy industries such as engineering, iron and steel, oil refineries, heavy machinery etc. Because of huge investment requirement and long gestation period, private sector was not willing to enter these areas. The duty of development of basic infrastructure was assigned to public sector which it discharged quite efficiently.
- 2. Regional balance: Earlier, most of the development was limited to few areas like port towns. For providing employment to the people and for accelerating the economic development of backward areas many industries were set up by public sector in those areas.
- 3. Economies of scale: In certain industries (like Electric power plants, natural gas, petroleum etc) huge capital and large base are required to function economically. Such areas were taken up by public sector.

4. Control of Monopoly and Restrictive trade Practices – These enterprises were also established to provide competition to pvt. Sector and to check their monopolies and restrictive trade practices.

5. Import Substitution – Public enterprises were also engaged in production of capital equipments which were earlier imported from other countries. At the same time public sector Companies like STC and MMTC have played an important role in expending exports of the country. Very important role was assigned to public sector but its performance was far from satisfactory which forced govt. to do rethinking on public enterprises.

PUBLIC SECTORY REFORMS

In the industrial policy 1991, the govt. of India introduced four major reforms in public sector.

(I) Reduction in No. of industries reserved for public sector: This no. is reduced from 17 to 8 and to 3 only in 2001. These three industries are atomic energy arms and rail transport.

(II) Memorandum of Understanding (MOU): Under this govt. lays down performance target for public sector and gives greater autonomy to hold the management but held accountable for the specified results.

(III) Disinvestment: Equity shares of public sector enterprises were sold to private sector and the public. It was expected that this would lead to improved managerial performance and better financial discipline.

(IV) Restructural and Revival: All public sector sick units were referred to Board of Industrial and Financial Re-construction (BIFR). Unite which were potentially viable were restructured and which could not be reviewed were closed down by the board.
